From The Civil and Sess: Judge, C & M. Stn. Bangalore.
No. 1293 (Serial 1).
Dated 21st July 1886. Enc.
Received 26th — Spare copies.

Subject.

Recommends the appointment of Messrs J. W. Hayes Senior, Advocate, and G. Madden, Agent, Bank of Madras, Bangalore, as Notaries public for the Station: also recommends the extension of Act II of 1885, (an Act amending the Negotiable Instruments Act, XXVI of 1881) to the C & M. Station.

Notes and orders.

Serial 1.

Bob Hill in his letter cited above, states that Bills of exchange have to be sent to Madras when they have to be noted and protested, and to remedy the existing inconveniences he recommends the appointment of Messrs J. W. Hayes, (Senior) and G. Madden as Notaries Public for the Civil and Military Stations of Bangalore. The Civil Judge adds that are

(Continuation of Note or Precis.)

in case it is thought that One Notary Public is sufficient for the station, Mr Rogers alone may be appointed.

2. Bob Hill also recommends the extension of Act II of 1885 (an Act to amend the Negotiable Instruments Act, XXVI of 1881), which was passed in the early part of 1885. Bob Hill does not give any reason for introducing the new Act. But it is submitted that before the Governor General can appoint a Notary Public, the amending Act should first be extended to the station as will appear from the following paragraph.

3. The Negotiable Instruments Act (XXVI of 1881) was extended to the C.I.H. Station with certain modifications, by the Govt of India, Foreign Department, in their Notification

1.05

(Continuation of Note or Precis.)

Serl. No 18. in locked file No. 465 of 85.

Notification No 4070. I. dated the 15th Dec. 1885. The amending Act however, was not extended at the time. Before Act 11 of 1885 came into force the Governor General used to appoint Notaries Public under Section 3 of the Act of 1881, but doubts having arisen as to the authority of the Governor General so to appoint, as section 3 simply defined a Notary Public, but did not invest the Governor General with the power to appoint a Notary Public, Act ii of 1885 was passed empowering the Governor General to appoint or remove Notaries Public (See 138). It is submitted therefore that the amending Act should first be extended to the C.N.B. Station and then the appointment of a Notary Public should be made under section 128 thereof.

4. In addition to the changes introduced by the amending Act as described in the previous paragraph there are other changes given below which will show the necessity of extending the whole of the amending Act to the Naval and Military Stations.

(a) Sections 108 and 109 of the Act of 1881 required that a person desiring to accept for honor must appear in person before a Notary Public to make the declaration required by those sections. Experience probably showed that persons who were otherwise willing to accept bills of the kind described above generally refused to go before a Notary to make the required declaration.

Section 113 was also defective for the same reasons. Consequently the amending Act ii of 1885 modified the former Act so as to remedy the defects pointed out above in sections 108, 109, and 113.

(b) The New Act has also modified sections 7, 61, 64 and 101 of the Old Act.

(C) Certain new sections have also been introduced by that Act:— viz:—

Act ii of 1885 — Sec: 3. — This section inserts Sec: 45. A, after section 45 of Act XXVI of 1881, and thereby gives a right to the holder of a bill of change to have a duplicate thereof where he loses the original before it is over due.

" — Sec: 6 — This section inserts insert sec: 104.A. after section 104 of the Old Act, ~~and~~ which lays down that noting for protest before the expiration of the specified time is sufficient and equivalent to protest, and that the formal protest may be extended at any time thereafter as of the date of the noting.

4 ——Sec: 139. This section invests the Governor General in Council with power to make Rules under the Act for the guidance and Control of Notaries Public.

5. The amendments pointed out above are few but important and of general application to all places in which the Act of 1887 is in in force. It is therefore submitted that the Government of India may be asked to extend the whole of the amending Act (II of 1885) to the station and also to appoint one or both, as the Resident may think fit, of the persons recommended by Col. Hill for the office of Notary Public for the C & M Station of Bangalore.

× No modifications are needed.

Bangalore.

Sir,

Since Act No. XXVI of 1881 has been extended to the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, I have the honor to request that you will be so good as to lay before the Resident the desirability of moving the Government of India to appoint Notaries Public for the station, for whose services provision is made under Sections 99 to 103 of the Act.

2. I may mention that bills of exchange when they have got to be noted and protested have now to be sent to Madras for the purpose.

3. I propose that Mr. J. W. Hayes senior as Senior Advocate at the Bar, and Mr. G. Madden of the Madras Bank may be nominated. The latter however wishes to retire in favour of Mr. Hayes if only one Notary Public should be deemed sufficient for the station.

4. I avail myself of this opportunity to recommend that the Government of India should be moved to extend to the Civil and

Sir,

~~I have the honor to state~~

~~that the~~ The Civil & Sessions Judge of the C & M Station of Bangalore has represented the necessity of appointing Notaries Public for the Station as Bills of Exchange, requiring to be noted & protested, have to be sent at present to Madras for the purpose and ~~the Civil Judge~~ also recommends the extension to the Station of Act II of 1885, an act to amend the Negotiable Instruments Act XXVI of 1881 which was introduced into the Station by the Foreign Department Notification No 4070 I, dated the 15th Decr 1885.

2. The introduction of the Amending Act seems desirable, as it contains some new & important provisions among which are ~~notably those~~ under sections 138 & 139 which ~~enables~~ enabling the Govr. General in Council to appoint notaries public and make rules for their guidance and control.

3. I have the honor therefore to ~~request~~ recommend that His Excellency the Governor-General in Council may be pleased to Extend the amending Act No II of 1885 to the Cochin States of Bangalore and to appoint under section 138 of Act XXVI of 1887 (as amended by act II of 1885), the persons noted on the margin to perform the functions of notaries public within the said States.

Sir,

I have the honor to submit for the orders of the Honorable the Resident the accompanying application received from Mr. Hawkins, requesting that he may be appointed to perform the functions of a Notary Public within the limits of the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore.

2. There were formerly two Notaries Public in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore. One was the late Mr. Glengall Madden, agent of the Bangalore Branch of the Madras Bank, and the other the late Mr. J. W. Hayes Senior Advocate. They were both appointed by Foreign Department Notification No. 3331 I dated 16th September 1886. Mr. Madden left Bangalore about February 1887 and Mr. Andrew Clarke Irwin who succeeded him as agent of the Madras Bank was appointed to be Notary Public in his place. The latter left Bangalore on or about June 1888 and then Mr. Madden who returned to Bangalore was again appointed to be Notary Public by Foreign Department Notification No. 2990 dated the 23rd July 1888. He left Bangalore a second time in the early part of 1892, and no one was appointed to succeed him. Mr. Hayes Senior died on 8th April 1892 and Mr. J.C.S. Lawrance was appointed to be Notary Public in his place by Foreign Department Notification No. 2114 I dated the 25th May 1892. From that time up to date Mr. Lawrance is the only person that has been exercising the functions of a Notary Public within the limits of the Civil and Military Station. On examining the books and registers kept by Mr. Lawrance, I find that the average income of his office as Notary Public is about Rs 3. 14. 3 as will be seen from the following table.

A9.24 462/88

| Year | amount |
|---|---|
| 1892. | R. A. P. |

Average per year — 46-10-8

96

It is evident from the above figures that the work of a Notary Public in the Station is not heavy. The appointment, therefore, of an additional Notary Public does not seem to me to be necessary.

Sir,

I am in receipt of the communication from the District Judge informing me that my application to be appointed as Notary Public has been forwarded to the Honorable the Resident in Mysore who is of opinion that there is at present no necessity to appoint an additional Notary Public and I now request that you will move the Honorable the Resident to reconsider his decision.

I understand that the principal objection to the appointment of another Notary Public is that there is practically no work for the existing Notary and I would point out that the main cause of this is not so much the absence of work but the comparative difficulty of securing the prompt attention of a Notary has inter alia kept away from Bangalore the class of business which calls for the services of that -- functionary.

There are at present in Bangalore only two Banks and the class of ousiness transacted by both is to the best of my knowledge purely local and in this class of business the services of a Notary are very little in demand.

The bulk of the business which might be financed and transacted locally has for - reasons not necessary to discuss found its way to Bombay and Madras to the benefit of these places and to the detriment of Bangalore and it is proposed to attempt to bring this back to Bangalore.

The First Assistant

To the Hon: the Resident in Mysore.

Sir

With reference to my renewed application to be appointed a Notary Public in the Civil & Military station of Bangalore I have the honor to state that I have now a case in point to shew how the Public is inconvenienced by the want of such Public servants.

One of my clients, a widow was recently left a large sum of money, exceeding 5 lakhs of rupees, the testator being a resident in Burmah. Litigation on the will having ensued it was necessary to execute several documents and at that time the only notary public in the station was absent with the result that my client was put to great expen: in appointing an attorney and all the documents had to be sent to Madras for execution Judgment having been given in favor of my client she is about to proceed to Europe, but the funds are being invested in India and although it is her desire to invest the same in Bangalore yet I am compelled to advise her to transfer them to Madras for in the event of any difficulty arisingI should be unable to take that prompt action which would be necessary in dealing with trust funds.

I am moreover inshructed not to avail myself of the services of the existing notary.

A few days ago I had the opportunity of speaking to Mr G L Chambers on the subject and he informed me that he had urged the appointment of additional Notaries only a few days previous to the Hon: the Resident and that at the time he was Chairman of the Madras Chamber of Commerce he had brought the necessity prominently to notice.

I have the honor to be

Sir

Your obedient servant

SIR,

With reference to your memorandum dated the 27 6th instant, No. 4431, forwarding for report copy of a letter dated 16th August 1901 from Mr. B. Hawkins to your address, regarding his request to be appointed a Notary Public in the Civil and Military Station, I have the honor to state that in my opinion there is not sufficient work to necessitate the appointment of another Notary Public in this station. Mr. Hawkins remarks that the main cause of the absence of work is due to the difficulty of securing the prompt attention of the existing notary, but I have never received complaints to this effect. By his appointment, Mr. Hawkins hopes to bring back to Bangalore the bulk of business which he states, has found its way to Bombay and Madras. This appears to me to be purely a conjecture on his part. Regarding his remarks that the existing notary resides in the northern part of the station, and that he is not immediately accessible at his office, I have only to state that Mr.

Mr. Lawrence's residence is quite as near the business centre of the Station as Mr. Hawkins's own house. I have never received complaints of Mr. Lawrence not being accessible at business hours at his office.

I have the honor to be,

Sir

Your most obedient Servant,

Sir,

With reference to the two letters addressed to you by Mr. B. Hawkins, dated the 16th August 1901 and the 9th September 1901 respectively, and forwarded to me for report with your Memoranda nos 4431 and 4736 bearing dates respectively 6th September 1901 and 24th September 1901, I have the honor to state that I am now of opinion that the appointment of an additional notary Public for the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore is necessary. Mr. Lawrance has extensive practice at the bar and is generally in attendance at the courts of the Station between 11 A.M. and 5 P.M. on Court days, and during those hours and also during his absence from the Station, his business now and then taking him away to Mofussil Stations in the Province, people may find it difficult to get their instruments noted and protested. The appointment of an additional notary public whose services can be counted upon at all the business hours of the day will, I think, remove the inconvenience that is now being felt and give satisfaction to the Mercantile Community, not only of the Civil and Military Station, but also of the Presidency town of Madras.

2. As observed by Mr. Hawkins, the appointment is purely honorary and carries with it no salary, the holder only receiving certain fees for noting and protesting instruments as laid down in rule 9 of the rules published under Home Department Notification No. 1433 dated the 30th September 1886. The appointment therefore is unobjectionable from the point of view of Government.
